

There Was Lots to But the Best S

How many MPs would give you their nightstick? But Teresa Graves can do it.

CAMP EAGLE – The professionals of Bob Hope's troupe made his show as smooth and funny as it was meant to be.

But behind them stood the men of the 101st, of XXIV Corps, and other units in northern I Corps, who worked long and hard to ensure that Bob Hope would have a stage and an audience when he came to Camp Eagle on short notice.

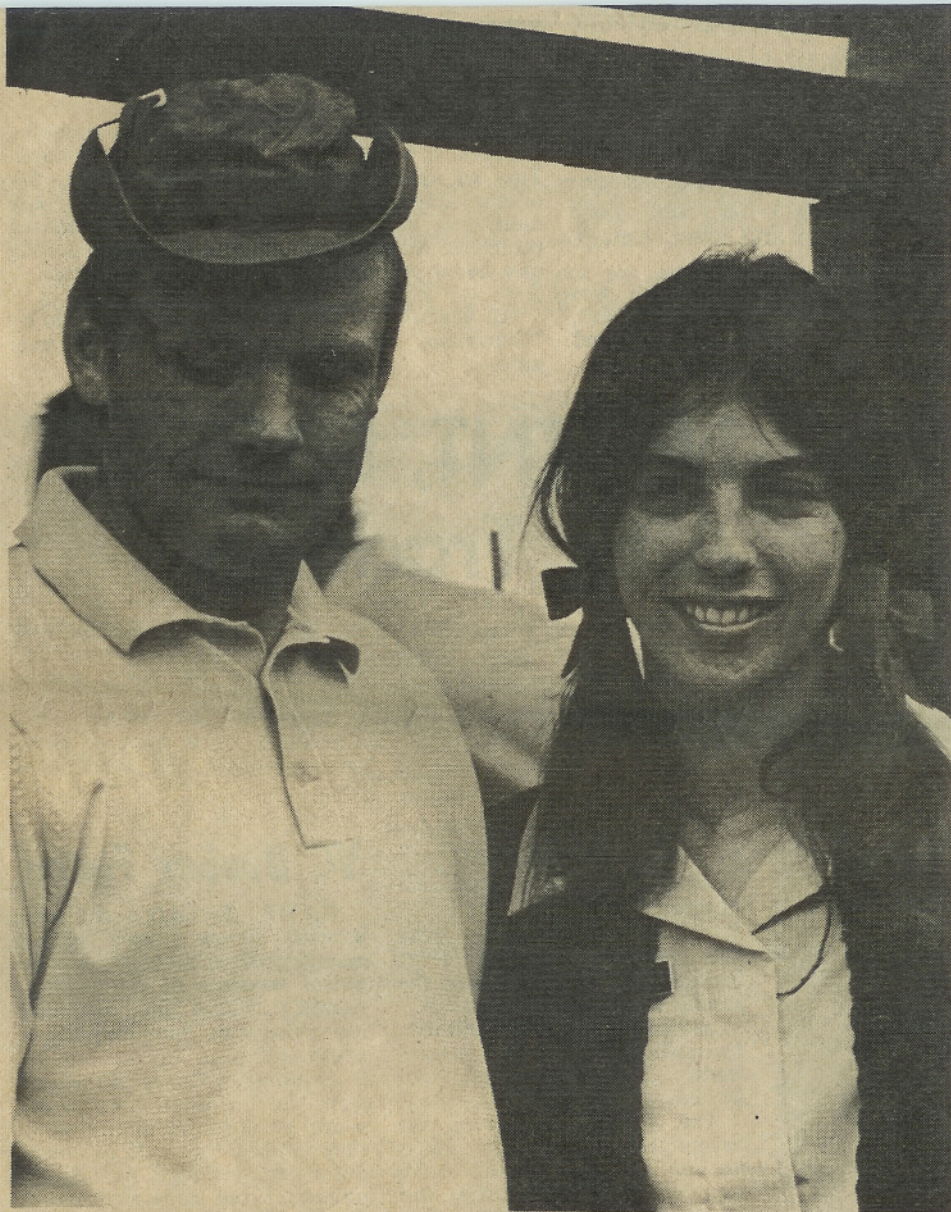

More than 15,000 man hours were put into preparation by groups as diverse as the 326th Eng. Bn., the 101st Military Police Co., the 101st Aviation Group, the 5th Transportation Bn., the 501st Signal Bn., the 426th Supply and Service Bn., and headquarters and administrative personnel.

They built the stage, prepared the sound system, graded and constructed the amphitheater, arranged convoys of more than 200 troop trucks, and ferried performers, VIPs and baggage to and from Camp Eagle.

Then the troops themselves put up with long rides and early hours, remaining orderly and cheerful the whole time, to see the show.

But most of all, there were the servicemen who stayed in the field and did their duty, providing the security necessary to the people of Vietnam as well as the Bob Hope Show.

Astronaut Neil Armstrong meets a local girl, Karen Long, of American Red Cross.

The jokes were funny, too.

Dinner after the show was great. And Staff Sgt. Calvin Walter saw